SOCIAL SCIENCE ASSOCIATION. The next general meeting of the American Social Science Association will be held in New York on the 26th, 27th and 28th proximo. From the number and character of the gentlemen who will take an active part in the proceedings, the meeting promises to be of an unusually interesting character. Papers will be read by George W. Curtis, on "Civil Service Reform;" Professor T. W. Dwight, on the "Public Charities of New York;" David Dudley Field, on "An International Code;" A. R. Spofford, Librarian of Congress, on "The Public Libraries of the United States;" Dr. Elisha Harris, Superintendent of Public Health of New York, on "Health Laws and their Administration;" Hon. James G. Blaine, Speaker of the House of Representatives, on "Change in the Mode of Electing U. S. Senators;" Professor D. C. Gilman of Yale College, on "Industrial Schools," Professor Francis Bacon of Yale College, on "Vaccination as an Element of Public Health;" Hon. Henry L. Dawes, on "Procedure in Contested Election Cases," Frederick Knapp, of the New York Emigrant Commissioners, on "Emigration;" Hon. James A. Garfield, on "The Census of 1870."

Several other distinguished persons will contribute papers.

☞ The "Champion croquetese" of England is reported to have driven a ball recently through thirteen hoops without a break. His mallet must be as versatile as Davy Crockett's fowling-piece, the barrel of which he bent into a curve so that he could kill at one discharge all the game in range around a mountain.

THE CABINET AND TEXAN POLITICS. At the Cabinet meeting on Friday the President read a letter from General J. J. Reynolds in relation to political affairs in the State of Texas. The letter is now given for publication, and in it General Reynolds gives an interesting exposé of political affairs in that State. After referring to the fact that he had pursued a policy of non-intervention, in the hope that harmony would be brought about between the two factions, General Reynolds says:

"The Radicals (E. J. Davis wing) charged while in Washington that the Conservative Republicans (A. J. Hamilton wing) had entered into a coalition with the Democrats of the State to support A. J. Hamilton for Governor, and in turn to be promoted by him, if elected, to exert their influence with the new State government then offered a sufficient guarantee that I could to you on the production of satisfactory evidence that it existed. The evidence was not produced. I said nothing of the last, but, returned to Texas, and have ordered to keep myself well informed on all subjects of public interest, and especially there affecting the reconstruction of the State."

He then explains how he subsequently ascertained that Hamilton, Judge Doan, Pease and others refused to make any terms with the Republicans of the State. Referring to the State Convention he says:

"The convention met in Galveston on the 10th of May, and, without transacting much business, adjourned to meet in Houston on the 7th of June. I am assured by parties in whom I can place reliance that overtures were made of this convention by the Radicals, and rejected by the Conservatives. A ticket with A. J. Hamilton for Governor and E. J. Davis for Lieutenant Governor might have been nominated then and there, and would have produced harmony in the Republican party but for the persistent opposition of the A. J. Hamilton Conservative faction."

Further on in the letter he says:

"The circumstances all considered, I am constrained to believe that the coalition which has been charged as existing between the Conservative, or A. J. Hamilton, Republicans and the Democrats, mentally reputable, does actually exist. The platforms of the two wings of the Republican party are precisely the same. The Radical wing set out their professions of adherence to the Reconstruction laws of Congress, and present for office men who are qualified under those laws. The Conservative men frequently nominate men for office

THE BANGOR DAILY WHIG AND COURIER.

Whig & Courier.

JOHN H. LYNDE, - - PROPRIETOR.

WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 29, 1869.

Result of the Gold Panic.

The gold excitement of last week is the universal topic of conversation and newspaper comment. While there are divisions of sentiment as to the final result of those speculations, one fact is admitted, that the bulls themselves, contrary to usage in such cases, were the losing parties. Their presumption was so great that a break was fatal to them. They had no time to recover.

Among the individuals and firms reported as engaged in the combination to enhance the price of gold are: William S. Woodard, who is reputed to be the manager in the movement, Marvin Brothers, Smith, Gould & Martin, Jay Gould, William M. Tweed, James Fisk, jr., Peter B. Sweeny, Arthur Kimber, agent for Storn Bros. of London, and Lockwood & Co.

Among the brokers engaged in operating for the clique above named were: Dakin, Gillespie & Co., Belden & Co., Wm. Heath & Co., E. K. Willard, Chapin, Bowen & Day, A. Speyers, Ohaco, McClure & Co., S. Walker.

Many of these names are well known to the general public. The redoubtable Fisko, Jay Gould, Tweed and Sweeny are not strangers to the fraternity of gamblers who make New York so outrageously corrupt, and there are few who will be sorry if they are severely handled by the trap of their own setting. While many of the smaller members, however, suffer from the transactions to an extent that will not admit of recovery, most of the large speculators will escape with severe punishment. Among the latter, Belden & Co. have suspended and probably the failure is a heavy one. The broker Speyers has also failed. Reports of absconding partners were very plenty at first, and there were doubtless many cases of what New York thus easily terms thieving on a large scale.

Of the result to the financial world, it is curious to note the different opinions. The Tribune is rejoiced that Secretary Boutwell came to the relief of the gold market by his announcement of the sale next day, but it is satisfied that more could have been done by putting his gold immediately upon the market, and asks:

"Why should not the government take 150 or 200 gold, if Mr. Fisk chooses to put the price up to that, instead of giving him timely warning to stand from under, and then taking 135? The grain dealer sells his wheat when he can get a high price for it; he does not go upon an excited market with the announcement that on a certain day he is going to sell an enormous amount, and so break down the price in advance. Why should not the government take advantage of high prices as well as individuals?"

The Commercial takes the same view, and very strongly censures the Secretary for his tardiness to act, insinuating that some parties had evidently imposed upon him. It says:

"We regret that Secretary Boutwell should have exposed himself to the censure of the better class of the business portion of the community by his tardiness in regard to the sale of gold. He was early enough advised of the programme of the gold conspirators and their determination to put up the price of gold, and obstruct the legitimate currents of trade. He had the opportunity to make himself immortal, and he permitted the opportunity to pass. He could by timely action have spared the country the disgrace which the transactions of the past few days have brought upon its commercial and financial standing."

On the other hand, the Journal of Commerce takes the ground that the Secretary ought to have let the gamblers fight it out. It sums up as follows:

"When will sensible people learn that no bulls can put up gold unless some bear opponent equally culpable is on the other side of the arena? There is not a particle of choice between the two as to the equity of the conflict. Each is trying to take advantage of the other. As long as they keep outside of the criminal law let them fight it out. We do not say that society does not suffer from these contests, or that they are reputable; or that it would not be well if they could be wholly prevented. But we do say that interfering to help one or the other, where both cannot be reached together, only prolongs the conflict, or rescues the equally guilty to renew it on some as he secures good opportunity. If the Secretary had not altered from his position yesterday, the market would have been healthier, steadier, and free from speculation for months to come."

The Evening Post also takes that view, and even goes so far as to say that the Treasury has met its "greatest defeat" in this transaction.

The facts, there are many things to be considered in this action of the Secretary. While it will be rather difficult for sensible people to see wherein the Treasury met with a defeat when it accomplished the object of regulating the market, it must be conceded that the Secretary acted judiciously and that he took the course that seemed best calculated to sustain his position and the interest of the country. The Secretary was in a peculiar situation. It was reasonably supposed that the gold gamblers who got up that gigantic corner were amply able to purchase all the gold that any one would be, above is judicious to put upon the market. Had that been the case, it might possibly have occurred but for the interference of foreign bankers, the gamblers would have had a permanent hold upon the market to the great injury of the legitimate business of the country. They could have held gold at 50 as well as 60, and the panic would have been most disastrous. We have not seen the theory announced in New York, but it is quite possible that the government thought it safer to feel their way before risking the amount of their regular sale upon Wall st. It may be that Secretary Boutwell arranged with those "foreign bankers," so-called, to touch the market with their gold, and when he found the "corner" had not the substance it threatened, he was free to act as he thought for the interest of the Treasury. On the other hand, the fol: it his duty to interfere just as soon as it was safe to do so in order to rescue the business of the country from a great panic that seemed seriously pending. We believe the result shows that Secretary Boutwell acted wisely.

SINGULAR. A Washington dispatch states that early on Friday morning Secretary Boutwell received a dispatch from Jay Gould asking the loan of $300,000 in currency on collateral security of bonds, at the same time calling the Secretary's attention to the fact that he (Gould) was the President of the Erie Railroad. He gave as a reason for this singular request that the Erie road was engaged in heavy improvements in Ohio and that the currency was needed to pay the hands who would otherwise go unpaid—a calamity in view of Gould in consequence of the great dissatisfaction it would produce, which would be injurious on the eve of an election, especially when it became known that the Treasury had any quantity of currency locked up. Mr. Gould made other efforts to obtain currency, but Secretary Boutwell did not deem it proper to furnish capital for speculation in the present condition of affairs in Wall street.

Bring out the Trades!

There is one particular point in our celebration tomorrow that should be specially imposing. This is a Bangor celebration exclusively. Although our friends from everywhere are invited and will extensively participate in our enjoyment, it is an occasion upon which Bangor alone will be directly concerned. We therefore desire to show the people who come from abroad of what Bangor is made—what has built up the city and what is to build it up still more in future. All the trades should be largely represented in the procession, and in the designs and emblems. Many of them have already made arrangements to turn out in full force. The foundrymen and machinists, we understand, will appear with their implements ready for action, and will start the procession with their usual signal, a steam whistle.—The ship-carpenters have also arranged to appear in full force. In fact nearly all the industries of the city will be fairly represented in the day's exercises.

There is one great branch of our business upon which our energies should be especially directed. The lumber business more than any other has built up our city, and should be largely seen on that day through its representatives. There should be no half-way display in such an affair as this. Let us get out a large body of river men with picks and canoes. But little time is needed to collect a good display of our laborers in this branch, and we are sure that the celebration would not be complete without a full representation of the lumber business.

THE LAST WALL STREET "IRREGULARITY." About four o'clock on Wednesday Mr. T. W. Headley, junior partner of the firm of, Vandeventer & Co., gold and stock brokers, in Wall street, New York, left the office, remarking that he might re turn soon. Mr. Vandeventer, the senior partner, waited for him sometime in vain, and then sent a messenger to the St. Nicholas Hotel for him, and was informed that he had gone to Philadelphia. Meantime a notification had been received from the Bank of Commonwealth that their account had been overdrawn. Mr. Vandeventer proceeded to Philadelphia but got no trace of Headley. Thursday evening he learned that Headley had reached his home in New Brunswick early on Wednesday evening, and had left again by the half-past ten train, informing his wife that he was going to New York, and would remain all night that he might be in Wall street early in the morning. He has not since been seen. His disappearance and the notification from the bank led to the examination of the books, when a defalcation was discovered, which, the Express says, amounts to about $20,000. It is said the suspension of the firm will be only temporary. It appears that Mr. Headley had charge of the books and finances, and his partner of the gold and stock transactions.

AGRICULTURAL RETURNS. The Commissioner of Agriculture at Washington continues to receive good accounts from the different State fairs of the new cereals. The Agricultural College of Michigan sends the results of their experience with five new kinds of oats introduced by the department. The average product was over 64 bushels per acre, and the weight above 34 pounds. The present est crop of the United States exceeds 16,000,000 bushels, and the product of old varieties ranges only from 25 to 35 bushels per acre. It is the intention of the commissioner to import largely next winter, for distribution the kinds that have proved the most productive and valuable.

A Florence dispatch says Mount Etna is in a state of violent eruption and streams of lava are pouring from the crater into Voldue.

Reports from Rome state that the case of Pietro Hyacinthe will be submitted to canonical investigation, which will probably result in excommunication.

The export of sugar from Havana and Matanzas during the past week foot up 14,000 boxes and 1000 hhds. to foreign ports and 7000 boxes to the United States. Of sugar, the stock in warehouses in Havana and Matanzas amounts to 214 boxes and 3000 hhds.

The Cincinnati Enquirer (Democratic) has the frankness to admit that the result in Maine indicates the way the election will go in Pennsylvania and Ohio.

Judge Dent and General Alcorn have agreed to stump Mississippi in company for the Governorship.

ATTEMPT TO RELEASE COL. YERGER. A Jackson (Miss) dispatch states that an organized conspiracy has been discovered to release from prison Colonel Yerger, who several months ago assassinated Colonel Crane, the Mayor of the city. The plot was frustrated by the vigilance of the commandant of the post, and a sergeant, two corporals and several privates in the United States Army have been arrested, charged with complicity in the attempt.

MORE LIGHT ON THE PENNSYLVANIA STRIKE. A correspondent of the World, calling himself "A Friend to the Miners," states the cat out the cat out the bag in regard to the coal strike in Pennsylvania last summer. He says that the strike was all arranged beforehand between the miners and coal operators; the former agreeing to quit work for the sake of diminishing production, with an understanding that they should be better paid, which they got, but it again. The miners kept their part of the contract, but the capitalists broke theirs, after they had profited by the strike in the higher price of coal. The first or show strike lasted for thirty days; but when the miners found themselves defeated by the capitalists with scabs, they had combined to cheat the public, they struck in good earnest, and, of course, as the custom is, they injured themselves by the strike. Now they are trying to get back to work, but the capitalists, who can afford to wait, will not employ them at what, under the circumstances, are fair rates. The whole affair shows that there is not in the country a more grasping set of monopolists than these same coal operators of Pennsylvania through whose fault their own workmen are cheated and killed, while they are forcing up the price of their staple by a conspiracy. Let those people know that they are gaining universal odium by their unscrupulous course. They are the responsible persons and must bear the blame.

The Centennial Viewed from Abroad.

The Kennebec Journal furnishes its readers with an interesting sketch of the history of Bangor, commends our idea of a celebration, and concludes with the following just and encouraging view:

"But if the people of Bangor can look back with satisfaction on their progress for the past hundred years, what is the prospect ahead for the next century. A hundred years ago the builder of the first railroad and the father of the locomotive was unborn. Watt was dreaming over the application of steam to land and water transportation, but had effected nothing. Stephenson and Fulton were not born for some years after Bussell laid the foundation of the settlement at Bangor. The electric telegraph was not an idea. These have had much to do with the prosperity of our country in the past, will their benefits be proportionate in the future? Will new agencies as potent as those be discovered? Bangor is destined in the coming century to have her great resource thus far entirely developed. Before another hundred years she will be importing lumber for her own use from the "the Lord knows where." She must look to other means than lumbering for support. Fortunately she has them in the advantages for manufacturing and commerce which she commands. With a fertile country all about her, an abundant water power, mining facilities within reach, good trade and travel communications by land and river, and a people noted for public spirit, enterprise, liberality and capacity, she will grow and flourish. Connected with the great highway across the continent over which must pour the commerce and travel of Europe and Asia her importance must increase. So we can see no reason why our friends cannot enjoy their centennial dinner and parade, both for what they have grown to and what they may be in the future, and if the speeches and toasts are somewhat laudatory, the occasion will bear them out. We wish our sister city joy of her one hundredth birthday."

PORTLAND CRIMINAL AFFAIRS. Wm O Robinson, well known in Boston and New York, who has been on trial in the Supreme Court in Portland, for obtaining money by false pretenses from a number of our citizens, was yesterday declared guilty. He was then placed on trial for bigamy and pleaded guilty.

Murphy, who was found guilty of manslaughter last week, was yesterday released from custody on $5,000 bail.

CONSUMPTION.

Dr. Sc. Coughs, Colds, Influenza, Dyspepsia, Sore Throat, Bronchitis, Asthma, Liver Complaint, Dr. Sanford's Liver Invigorator.

All of these diseases have their origin in a common cause, a disordered condition of the Stomach, Liver and Blood. Dr. Sanford's Liver Invigorator acts upon the Stomach, Liver and Blood, and those who use it for any of the above diseases will find that it has been proved through a long experience to be the best remedy ever discovered. Dr. Sanford's Liver Invigorator is now prepared with increased strength, and will be found to be in no respect inferior to any medicine ever issued with the name of a Liver Invigorator. If the directions are followed, a perfect cure will certainly be the result. It is not to be supposed that any medicine will cure every case of disease, but Dr. Sanford's Liver Invigorator has been proved to be the most perfect remedy ever discovered for the cure of Consumption, but in order to effect a cure, the medicine must be taken in time. Consumption is the most insidious disease that we have to contend with, and when the lungs are once seriously affected, the patient is beyond the reach of medicine. Dr. Sanford's Liver Invigorator will cure Consumption, but it will not cure it after the lungs are entirely decayed. FROM WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28

There was a crowd of visitors at the Executive Mansion today, many of whom were admitted to the President.

At noon the Cabinet met. But the only members present were Secretaries Boutwell and Cox and, Attorney General Hoar Assistant Secretary of the State Davis and Assistant Postmaster General Earle representing heads of their Departments.

Supervisor Prosby reports to the Internal Revenue office from Virginia under date of Richmond, Va., Sept. 25th, that the cavalry guard under Captain Burns are doing good service in the Fifth Virginia District.

Collector Wilcox reports the seizure and destruction of thirteen illicit stills and the arrest of twelve men. This was the work of one week.

The most flattering reports are coming in from all parts of the State. The men who have heretofore distilled brandy illicitly are now complying with the law—the Supervisor believes that this year from Virginia the distillation of apple brandy will at 60 cents per gallon reach as large a total as $30,000 last year.

There are at present but fifteen authorized distilleries now rounding to the State while last year there were fifty-nine licensed distilleries

State Labor Reform Convention.

WORCESTER Mass., Sept 28

The State Labor Reform Convention met at Mechanics' Hall this morning and organized by the election of Hon E W Andrews of Boston as President, with a long list of Vice Presidents and other officers. 281 delegates were present.

The stated purpose of the convention was to form a new political party in the interests of workingmen, and to put in nomination a ticket for the coming State election. It was evident at the outset that many and differing interests were represented, and at some stages the proceedings were marked by signs of discordance of views, some of the speakers attacking or defending the existing political parties and discussing other irrelevant matters. Resolutions were adopted of which the following is a brief summary:

1st. Asserting that all laws creating distinctions in favor of color, condition, nationality or pursuit are a clear violation of the fundamental principles of Democratic Government.

2d. That all associations of workingmen or women formed with a view of promoting their personal or material interests, should receive the same chartered rights and privileges as the hands of legislators as be granted associated capital.

3d. Insists upon the reduction of hours of labor to eight, for all labor employed at the public expense.

4th. Demanding of every candidate for political honors a pledge that he will advocate the enactment of a law prohibiting all manufacturing establishments in this Commonwealth from employing females and minors more than 10 hours per day.

5th. Asserting that the exemption of taxes on bonds or securities is a violation of the just principles of revenue laws, and lays an unjust burden upon the producing classes of the country.

6th. Recognizing the services of the soldiers and sailors.

7th. Asserting that the material prosperity of the country is due to the laboring classes.

8th. Opposing the introduction into this country of a servile race to degrade and cheapen labor.

9th. Calling for the creation of a department of labor at Washington.

10th. Urging the friends of labor reform all their influence to secure the election of candidates who are unequivocally committed to the principles embraced in this platform.

11th. Asserting that the redemption of the claim of the bond holders, that the national debt is payable only in coin, is a clear repudiation of the national faith.

The candidates for State officers were nominated.

The action of the convention is not likely to make much change in the present political aspect of the State

CABLE NEWS

LONDON, Sept 28. The Times, in an article on the situation in France, says "The coincidence of the Emperor's sickness, and the reconstruction of his government, is a serious misfortune. The energies of the Emperor cannot be well spared at such a crisis. The reforms come unfortunately while the Emperor is incapacitated, and a time when he is most required.

The speculations of the people on the uncertainties and opportunities of the future are so discouraged as to augment the public disquietude.

If the crisis had occurred ten years ago the Emperor would have brought to work the energies he carried into the Italian campaign.

BANGOR, Sept. 19th, 1869.

GENTLEMEN:—I have this day announced to the Society, with which we are connected, the fact that I have been elected to a Professorship in the Divinity School at Cambridge, and that I have decided to accept the same. It remains only that I put into your hands, as I now do, my formal resignation of the pastorate of the Independent Congregational Society of Bangor, and I would suggest the fourth of October next as the day on which this resignation shall take effect.

Although I take this step in accordance with what seem to me to be good and sufficient reasons, and have been especially gratified to find that these reasons are justified and approved by so many of my friends in Bangor, yet I assure you that I do not break a connection which from the first has been for the ten years of its continuance, growing only pleasanter, without the deepest regret, and that I shall always hold in warmest and most grateful love and remembrance, a society from which and from every member of which, I have received only kindness.

Yours as ever, C. G. EVERETT.

W. O Crosby, Esq., Gen Chas. W. Roberts, Henry M. Prince, Esq., Standing Committee of the Independent Congregational Society Bangor.

Resolved, That we accept the resignation of the Rev. Charles Carroll Everett, and consent that our connection as Pastor and people shall terminate on the fourth day of October next according to request, and while we thus shape our course in conformity with his desires, we cannot surrender the tie without expressing our sorrow that the enlarged field of usefulness he is called to occupy, cannot be made to include the special place he has for the last ten years held in our Society—which he has filled so acceptably, and we hope we may say, so profitably to us—a place he now only leaves because our deepest gratitude for faithful service as a Pastor, our high appreciation of learning and mental ability, our esteem for moral worth and Christian character, cannot overpower his own wishes and the claims of our fellow Christians

Resolved That in complying with the request of President Eliot, we feel that we confer a favor upon the Divinity School in Cambridge, by aiding us to include among its teachers, a ripe scholar and a Christian gentleman and to all who desire may seek to learn how rightly to influence their fellow men, we commend the character and life of Charles Carroll Everett as affording an example of learning without pedantry, intellectual strength without pride, gentleness of manner with dignity and decision in adherence to the right, liberality in sentiment with firm convictions in belief, patience towards error, and perseverance in all good undertakings

By a subsequent vote the resolutions were ordered to be communicated to Mr Everett and the proceeding to be published

—The decorations for the Centennial begin to make their appearance

—Oliver Ditson & Co Boston, have just published a new Church Music Book, entitled "The Choral Tribute," by L O Emerson, whose Harp of Judah, Jubilate, and other works, have found so great favor in the eyes of the people The "Choral Tribute" is more comprehensive than either of the others, and is arranged in a manner calculated to further the cultivation of a correct taste of music.

—The Temperance organizations of this city will join the procession tomorrow They will meet at Union Hall at 8½ o'clock.

—We had quite a little frost hereabouts on Monday night, and it extended over quite a large territory, as we judge from our dispatches, it having made its appearance in Nashville on Sunday night and in New York on Monday night There was also a frost in Lewiston on Monday night Last night was very cold and appearances indicated a heavier frost than on Monday night

KENDUSKEAG ON NOROMBEGA? In the cards of invitations to the Centennial, and in other places, we notice that the name of the settlement in 1769 is set down as "Kenduskeag Plantation," while in the decorations at the Hall it is called at that date "Norombega" It strikes us that the committees should decide which of the two appellations is correct and unite upon one or the other —The steamer Katahdin, from Bangor, when off White Head, west of Rockland, Friday night, ran down the schooner Betsy Ames, owned in Portsmouth. There was a dense fog and no horn was blown on board the schooner. The steamer was now on before discovering her The schooner filled and capsized in five minutes The mate's wife and her son from Bucksport were on board The boy, six years old, was asleep in the cabin and was drowned. The others were picked up and taken on board the steamer. The owners of the steamer sent out to recover the body of the boy.

—The well known Portland trotters Arcola and Troublesome, have been matched to trot for $1,000 at Ling's track in Scarboro' on the 14th of October —The water in the upper Kennebec never was lower than at the present time. The mills and machine shops at Kendall's Mills are all stopped for want of water.

—The Gardiner Reporter says that Mr Benjamin Gilbreth, of Kendall's Mills, fell from his bed Wednesday night, injuring himself so badly that fears are entertained for his life. Mr Gilbreth is some 67 years of age. He is one of the oldest Free Masons in the State, having been initiated in Kennebec Lodge Hallowell, in 1815.

—The Lewiston Journal says that a murderous affray occurred at Saccarappa, Saturday last, by which John O. Andrews was dangerously stabbed in the head and neck, by an intoxicated companion named Horace Kallock. The latter is bound over to the Superior Court, in the sum of two thousand dollars.

PERSONAL The firm of Thos. Hersey & Co., was dissolved by mutual consent—Mr. B. S Grant retiring and the other parties, Messrs. Thos Hersey and J. A Burzell continuing business at the same stand

We regret to learn that Mr. Grant leaves the city to engage in other business in Boston. He has made many friends in Bangor who will follow him with their good wishes

DARING HIGHWAY ROBBERY IN NEW YORK. About half-past seven o'clock Friday morning Mr Charles H Simonson, clerk in the office of the Harlem Railroad in New York, left the Fifth National Bank in Third avenue, carrying in his hand a satchel containing $9 000, which he was to put upon his four days trip, when suddenly from behind a lumber yard, a thief, who sprang from a lumber cart, rushed violently upon Simonson, struck him a heavy blow with a bludgeon, and with the intention of robbing him, dealt him two other blows with the bludgeon, one of which knocked Mr Simonson senseless, another two or three blows broke the bludgeon, and with the remaining fragment he severely bruised the head of the latter who was carried from his grasp, the thieves meanwhile pounding their prize into the cart most unmercifully Having secured their prize, three of the men leaped into the cart and drove out full speed, leaving the fourth to shirk for himself. One policeman and a large number of citizens, who had witnessed the closing part of the outrage started in pursuit, but the men in the butcher's cart escaped, while the other, named Thomas Hart was captured He was recognized as one of the most desperate characters of the city. The police of the 4th precinct are very excited over the matter.

Pensioners and Claim Agents.

The Commissioner of Pensions recently issued an order requiring checks to be paid only to the Pensioner in person, or to his order. Some Claim Agents in Philadelphia appealed to the Secretary of the Interior, who on the 18th sustained the order of the Commissioner. The object of the rule is to separate the pensioner from the sharpers, who now fleece him under various pretexts. Of the thirty millions of dollars for which the people are taxed annually for pensioners, it is doubted if more than half or two-thirds ever reaches the pensioners. Parties obtain possession of the pensioner's certificates, lock them up, collect the money at each semi-annual payment and hand over what they please to the pensioners. One man in Maine is said to have in his possession a thousand certificates, on which he receives from four to six thousand dollars annually in fees and charges of various kinds. One claim agent in New York was arrested last week who took seventy-five dollars from a poor woman for "collecting" her pension. Hon. Mr. Van Aernam, the new Commissioner of Pensions, has thrown great energy thus far in his office, and it is to be hoped that he will succeed in entirely protecting pensioners, and securing to them their just dues. President Grant understood to take a personal interest in the business of the Pension Office, and is determined that there shall be no "middle man" between the soldiers and the Government in the payment of pensions.

Country Advertising.

We rarely see so much sound sense in a small space as marks the following paragraph, which is taken from an address by Joseph Medill, of Chicago, before the Convention of Indiana Editors and publishers:

One branch of the publishing business remains to be mentioned before closing those remarks—Advertising. I entirely disapprove of the practice altogether too common, of taking a column or, half-column "ads." on contracts for a year at a time, at greatly reduced rates. These advertisements are mostly quack medicines, lottery swindles or humbug patent-rights. Such advertisements are an abomination in the sight of readers, particularly the detestable cuts which accompany them. To thrust this lying, swindling trash by the column, cuts and all, into the face of decent and respectable people, for a year at a stretch, is enough to cause them to discontinue their paper until the nuisance is abated. For all such advertisements you should charge single rates, without discount, and demand advance payment. In addition to publishing this trash at shamefully low prices, printers are generally, or frequently, swindled out of the pay promised, and I confess to a certain degree of satisfaction that they are cheated, for it is a deserved punishment for inserting the stuff at such prices, on gendrous confidence, instead of cash down. The true way is to make no contracts at less than monthly rates, and if any one insists on keeping an "ad." standing for six or twelve months, charge him monthly rates, and collect every month. Open "wants" department in your paper; put the price at not to exceed ten cents a line per insertion; encourage people to make known their wants and transact their business through the columns of your paper; classify these advertisements under their proper heads, and insert them in a conspicuous part of your sheet. By a little tact, and considerable perseverance you can establish this line of advertising, and once established, it will prove not only profitable to the paper, but very useful to its patrons. When advertising is dull, fill up with reading matter and disposition of all kinds of local topics; and not be tempted to save composition by taking in quarter-price quack medicines. The additional reading matter will, in the long run, help your paper more than enough to make good the cost of the extra type-setting and loss of the humbug advertisements.—Establish a living scale of advertising, and adhere tenaciously to it. If your neighbor is so foolish as to cut under you and, refuse to listen to reason, do not follow his weak example, for he will hurt his own business far more than he can yours. When a publisher puts down his subscription rates, people begin to suspect he is "hard up," and they refuse to pay in advance, lest he may fail; and if he reduces his advertising rates below customary prices, it will be taken as confession that his circulation is diminutive and declining. Such are always the effects of the cut-under game of the player: for if you set a low value on your services or paper, the public is sure to place a low estimate on them; then, are you profitted by the insane efforts to cripple or kill your neighbor's paper. Rather "live and let live" be the sentiment that governs your action. Stand by your rates, and do as nearly a cash business as it is possible. Long credits is the bane that destroys so many country papers. Is it the slow poison that kills them, or causes them to drag out a miserable existence. All the expenses attending the publishing business are cash, and unless you receive cash for your labors, how can you expect to succeed or prosper?

THE BRITISH RECOGNITION OF THE REBELS.—A Washington dispatch says that a curious fact connected with circumstances under which the Queen's Proclamation of neutrality was issued on the 14th of May, 1861, has come to light in the compilation of the correspondence covering the belligerency question, which was submitted to the Senate at its last session, and which is now being put in print under direction of the State Department. It seems that at the time it was issued, the 13th of May, the British Government had really not received the official notice of the proclamation of blockade by President Lincoln, which was made the pretext for the declaration. This official copy was not received until the 14th of May, and all the notice that the British Government had was a printed copy transmitted by Lord Lyons, cut from the Washington Intelligencer, which was received May 10th at the British Foreign Office. The London papers of May 3d had also printed from the New York papers of April 22 an abstract of the proclamation, but there was no official notice of the action of our Government before the British Cabinet when they resolved upon the course which they adopted.

EXECUTIVE APPOINTMENTS OF MAINE U. S. SENATORS. The Biddeford Journal has the following:

When Senator Parris died in 1828, Judah Dana was appointed U. S. Senator by Governor Lincoln. When Senator Fairfield died in 1848, W. B. S. Moore was appointed by Governor Dana. When Senator Hamlin was elected Governor in 1857, he appointed Amos Nourse. When Senator Fessenden was appointed Secretary of the Treasury in 1864, N. A. Farwell was appointed by Gov. Cony. All these vacancies were filled by executive appointment in the first instance, and subsequently by the legislature.

THE HEAD OF THE LEGAL PROFESSION.—The Rolla (Mo.) Express having said that Judge Aaron Van Wormer of that State is justly regarded as the head of the legal profession in southwest Missouri, the St. Louis Republican replies. As he is the Judge who divorced himself from his own wife in his own Court, we rather think he is one ahead of any member of the legal profession in southwest Missouri, or anywhere else.

A PACIFIC RAILWAY.

GOLD LOAN

We are happy to announce that we have accepted the agency of the Kansas Pacific Railway Company,

For the sale of the Seven Per Cent.

Thirty Year Gold Loan, Free from Tax.

This Loan amounts to $6,500,000.

First Mortgage Land-Grant & Sinking Fund Bonds

secured upon the extension of the Railway from near Sheridan, in Kansas, to Denver, Colorado, a distance of 537 miles, of which 142 miles are completed, and the rest is under construction. Forms a first mortgage upon the Road, the Rolling Stock and Franchises of this first-class, Railway, passing through the State of Kansas.

And in Successful Operation for 437 Miles

West of the Missouri River, and earning more than enough to meet all of its expenses and existing obligations, besides

More than the Interest upon this New Loan.

In addition to this the Bonds are also secured by a first mortgage of the extending in alternate sections on either side of the track, from the 39th mile post in Kansas to Denver. The proceeds of the sale of these lands are to be invested by the Trustees in their own 7 per cent. Bonds themselves up to 120 or in U. S. Bonds, as a Sinking Fund for the Redemption of the Bonds.

The lands embrace some of the finest portions of the magnificent territory of Colorado, including coal fields and mines. The Company also holds as asset another tract of and although not pledged as a security for this loan, their possession lends largely to the Company's wealth and credit. We estimate the Value of the Company's Property covered by this Mortgage, at $23,000,000 net, while the Loan is merely $6,500,000,

The Bonds have

THIRTY YEARS TO RUN,

From May 1, 1869, and will pay

Seven per cent. Interest in Gold.

Semi-annually, on May 1 and Nov. 1, and are

Free from Government Taxation,

The Company paying the tax.

The PRINCIPAL of the Loan is made payable in Gold, in the City of New York, but each coupon will be at option of the holder, without notice, at the following rates:

Payable in Frankfort, London or New York

On $1,00 Bond in New York, $35 (gold) each half year.

On $1,000 Bond in London, £7 6s. 8d. each half year

On $1,000 Bonds in Frankfort, 87 fr. 50 kzrs. each half year.

The Agents of the Loan, before accepting the trust, had the condition of the Road, and the country through which it runs, carefully examined—the report of which is very satisfactory, and in some essentials even Better than Government Securities.

The Bonds will be sold for the present at 96, and accrued interest, both in Currency,

The Agents reserving the right to advance the rate

The attention of investors is invited to these well secured bonds, which we recommend as one of the most profitable investments in the market.

Gold and Government Securities taken in payment at their market value, without commission. Pamphlets, with maps giving full information, sent on application.
